Ted Kulongoski • The Right Priorities and a Real Plan for Energy Independence

Concerned about our dependence on foreign oil, Governor Kulongoski created an Energy Action Plan. This plan, one of the most ambitious in the nation, would diversify our energy supply and set a goal by the year 2025 to have 25 percent of Oregon's electricity come from clean, renewable energy sources.

The Kulongoski Plan:

- Aggressive investments in solar and wind energy
- Research and development to promote new clean energy jobs
- Make Oregon a leader in renewable ocean wave energy

Governor Kulongoski understands that fighting global warming is the right thing to do.

He fought the auto industry for tough standards on new cars. These new clean emission standards will cut greenhouse gases that cause global warming.

He joined Republican and Democratic Governors to create a clean car corridor along the West coast.
